

Cascade Airlines resumes Lewiston service

After suspending its Lewiston service in January, Cascade Airways resumed flights Sunday with an 11:10 a.m. departure carrying four passengers for Pullman and Seattle.

The flight of the Beechcraft 99 prop-jet Sunday marked the beginning arrivals and departures six days per week, excluding Saturday. The airline will have a counter at the Lewiston Airport terminal. Reservations can be made by calling (toll free) 1-800-541-0758, a spokesman at the airline's Spokane office told the Lewiston Morning Tribune.

Lewiston-Pullman-Seattle flights are offered at a $42 one-way fare. A Lewiston-Spokane trip costs $24 one way while a nonstop round trip flight to Seattle from Lewiston costs $84 compared to Hughes Airwest toll of $100.

Cascade, which has been serving Pullman-Moscow since 1971, came into Lewiston briefly in 1973 and was discontinued after a few months. Full-time service was resumed later, but a deficit operation last year brought a halt to the Lewiston-Boise flight Jan. 6 and Portland-Yakima-Walla Walla trips Jan. 17. A brighter financial picture this spring prompted the resumption of service.

Here are Cascade Airways schedules for the Lewis-Clark Empire and other Pacific Northwest cities.
